

HAPE: FXCFLLENCE FOR THIRTY YEARS

Welcome to Hape! In 2016 we will mark our thirtieth anniversary. This is a significant milestone, and a cause for celebration as we look back on thirty years of shaping and connecting children's lives through our product. As a company, we've experienced significant growth and expansion. From our beginnings as an education toy supplier to kindergarteners in Germany, our company has grown to become one of the world's largest producers of toys made from sustainable materials. Crossing cultures and continents, our product has become known for its excellence in design, safety, and educational play. Despite having experienced significant change, in vision and quality, Hape has remained committed and true to our foundation of friendship, education, cultural diversity, quality, and environmental sustainability.

Our focus has always been, and will remain, upon children. Hape toys are designed first and foremost to engage and connect families. From the beginning, our product has been tested and praised by our most important critics—kids of all ages—to ensure that we are not only achieving the highest levels of safety and environmental standards, but also creating a product that will truly appeal to a child's innate sense of play and exploration. Each collection is designed to emphasize qualities of the Hape mission. We believe in educational, active, and imaginative play. As such, we strive with each product to engage children in the development of their social, sensory, physical, and emotional skills.

Our toys draw upon inspiration from everyday life. From our thoughtfully designed music collections, to our active and role play inspiring wood kitchens and food play sets, to scooters and bikes, wood puzzles and more, Hape toys are known for their quality and enduring versatility. By remaining true to our roots, and classic designs, we are able to constantly innovate—improving and refining the existing product to create a trajectory of forward movement, while at the same time maintaining connection to the vision that has shaped our future.

This year, we invite you to discover the thirty-year legacy of Hape toys, as you play with and explore our 2016 collection.

Sincerely,

Peter Handstein

"CHILDREN DON'T PLAY TO LEARN, CHILDREN LEARN BECAUSE THEY PLAY."

Our Mission

Hape believes that the future begins and depends upon our children. As such, we strive towards excellence in developing a product that is endurable, environmentally sustainable, and engages all aspects of a child's imagination. Education and exploration blend in our products; and through responsible business practices, we aspire to leave the world in a better condition than we received it.

Our Philosophy

Hape toys are designed first and foremost for children. Each product is kid approved, and parent trusted. We strive towards the highest levels of safety and sustainability standards to optimize playtime and engage each child in age appropriate play. Hape believes in educational play, active play, and imaginative play. Each product is designed to stimulate children in various development skills: social, sensory, physical, or emotional. Our vision is to create an enduring legacy of play that is intended to extend through generations and across cultures.

THE HAPE LEGACY:

our commitment to playful development

As we celebrate our thirtieth anniversary as a company, our commitment has only deepened to the original foundation our brand is built upon. At Hape, we believe that children are essential to creating a positive and transformational future. In our legacy, we strive towards creating toys that engage kids of all ages in important development play. Hape believes in educational, active, and imaginative play.

In educational play, we strive to create products that engage kids in significant developmental skills numeracy, literacy, musical, and other cognitive components. In active play, our products are designed to engage kids in role-play activities, using large body muscles encouraging patterns that relate and connect families together. Additionally, we seek to offer a wide range of active ride-on toys, wood bikes and scooters, and so much more. By cultivating learning from infancy to school age, Hape seeks to support children's natural patterns of play in ways that are kid tested and approved. Throughout the Hape legacy lies the theme of imagination—the heart of our product—and the key to childhood development. In every design, Hape toys aspire to bright, age appropriate materials and colors that have created a trademark of quality and trust for thirty years.
